

God is real. He exists and he is not an idea, or a feeling, or a thought. He is the Creator. Look at this can of chili –

It's chili – it has beans and meat and tasty gravy. It is in this nice shiny can and is covered with a shiny piece of paper – with different color inks and writing and all kinds of information.

Do you think that if we were able to wait in the universe for 1000 billion years that the atoms floating in the universe would come together, form the beans, form the hamburger meat, form the tasty gravy, put all this in a cylindrical shape, form a can around the chili, cover the can with paper, cover the paper with inks and form ink molecules into a written language – English.

The answer is no – it would be absurd to say this would or could happen.

In fact, this can of chili thing would be a lot easier than expecting life to have just happened. This is what the world wants us to believe:

- It wants us to think that life was just a happen chance.
- It was atoms and molecules floating around to form water
- And the water mixed with molecules into a primordial soup and that got zapped with lightning
- This then formed amino acids
- And then the amino acids somehow (we can't get the somehow about this next part) formed living things – bacteria
- Then the bacteria started evolving into other things like protozoa and amoeba
- Then they grew fins and the fins then changed into legs and arms and then brains developed and starting thinking up things like Super Mario Bros. games and.....
You get the picture – think about life like our chili example – that if you give it enough time atoms and molecules can gather and form things and life can start and develop into something like – well - yourself

Now look at this sad little flower. It is way, way, way, more complex than the can of chili. In fact, if we were to put all the total power of science to work that we have today, man would not be able to make this small sad flower. Now think how much more complex we are than the flower.

NO WAY could life and more importantly NO WAY YOU could be a result of stuff forming by accident. You were created and God knew you while you were in your Mom's womb. God knew you before you were born. Read this from the Word - Jeremiah 1:4 The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 5 Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart

God loves us and gives us life – think about this – do you think God would make us, know us, and then ignore and forget us. NO! He loves you, He knows you. And we can thank Him by simply loving Him, believing in Him, and obeying Him. All His rules are to keep us safe.

Here is a prayer – “God, thank You for loving me enough to give me life. Help me to think about the miracle of life and how important it is. Help me to know You better and to learn to pray and talk to You because I know You know me. Help me to follow Your will that is for my own good. I love You and thank You.”
